

READING & WRITING.

MotherGooseCaboose.com

The Dove. Adapted. From a Harriet Warren story. Directions. Print out. Read the story. Illustrate the story. Put it together into a book. Read the book. Answer the questions. Use the story as a reference.

The Dove

A dove flew into a barn. It saw a cow. "Coo, coo," it called. "See my pretty wings! Don't you wish you had wings? You could fly, fly, fly away." "Moo, moo," the cow called. "I give milk to boys and girls. I don't want to fly away."

The dove flew to the sheep. "Coo, coo," it called. "See my pretty wings! Don't you wish you had wings? You could fly, fly, fly away." "Baa, baa," the sheep called. "I give wool to boys and girls. I don't want to fly away."

The dove flew to the horse. "Coo, coo," it called. "See my pretty wings! Don't you wish you had wings? You could fly, fly, fly away." "Neigh, neigh," the horse called. "I give rides to boys and girls. I don't want to fly away."

The dove flew to the hen. "Coo, coo," it called. "See my pretty wings! Don't you wish you had wings? You could fly, fly, fly away." "Cluck, cluck," the hen called. "I give eggs to boys and girls. I don't want to fly away."

"Coo, coo," the dove called. "Are you all happy?" "Yes, yes," mooed the cow. "Yes, yes," baa'd the sheep. "Yes, yes," neighed the horse. "Yes, yes," clucked the hen.

"Coo, coo," called the dove. "I am happy, too." And she flew to her nest.

The End.

READING & WRITING.

MotherGooseCaboose.com

The Dove. Adapted. From a Harriet Warren story. Cover Page.

Directions. Print out.

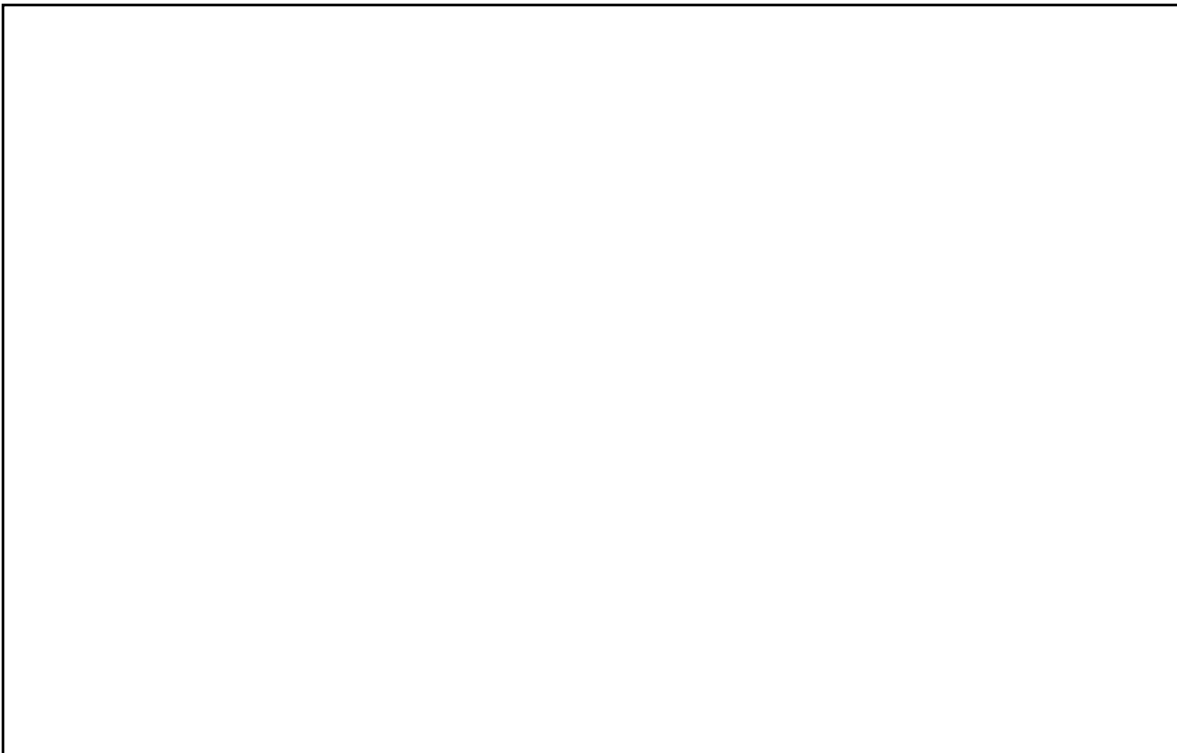

THE DOVE

Adapted. From a Harriet Warren story.

MotherGooseCaboose.com

ILLUSTRATED BY:

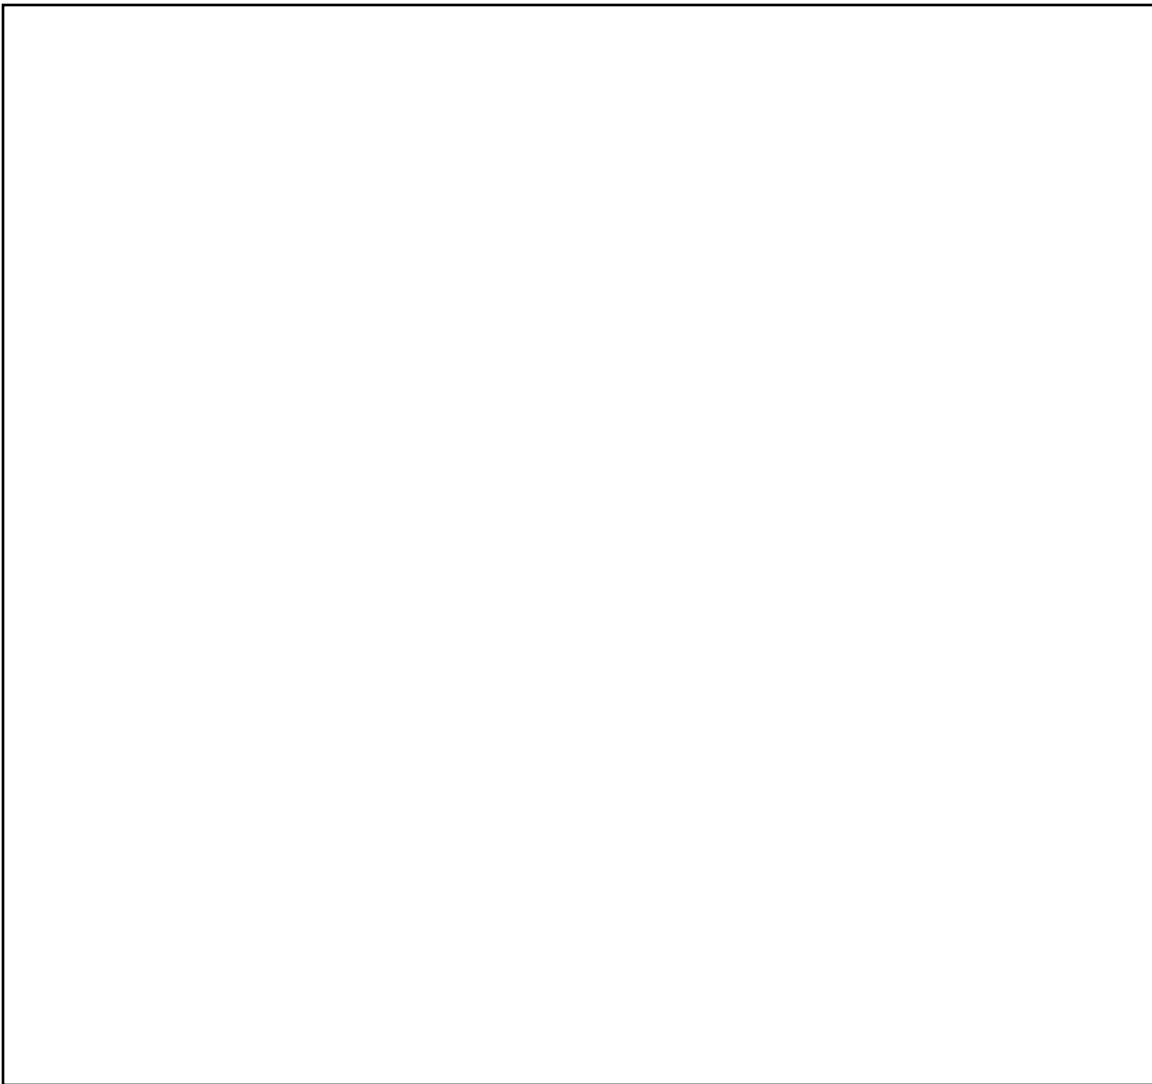

Cover Illustration.

A dove flew into a barn. It saw a cow. "Coo, coo," it called. "See my pretty wings! Don't you wish you had wings? You could fly, fly, fly away." "Moo, moo," the cow called. "I give milk to boys and girls. I don't want to fly away."

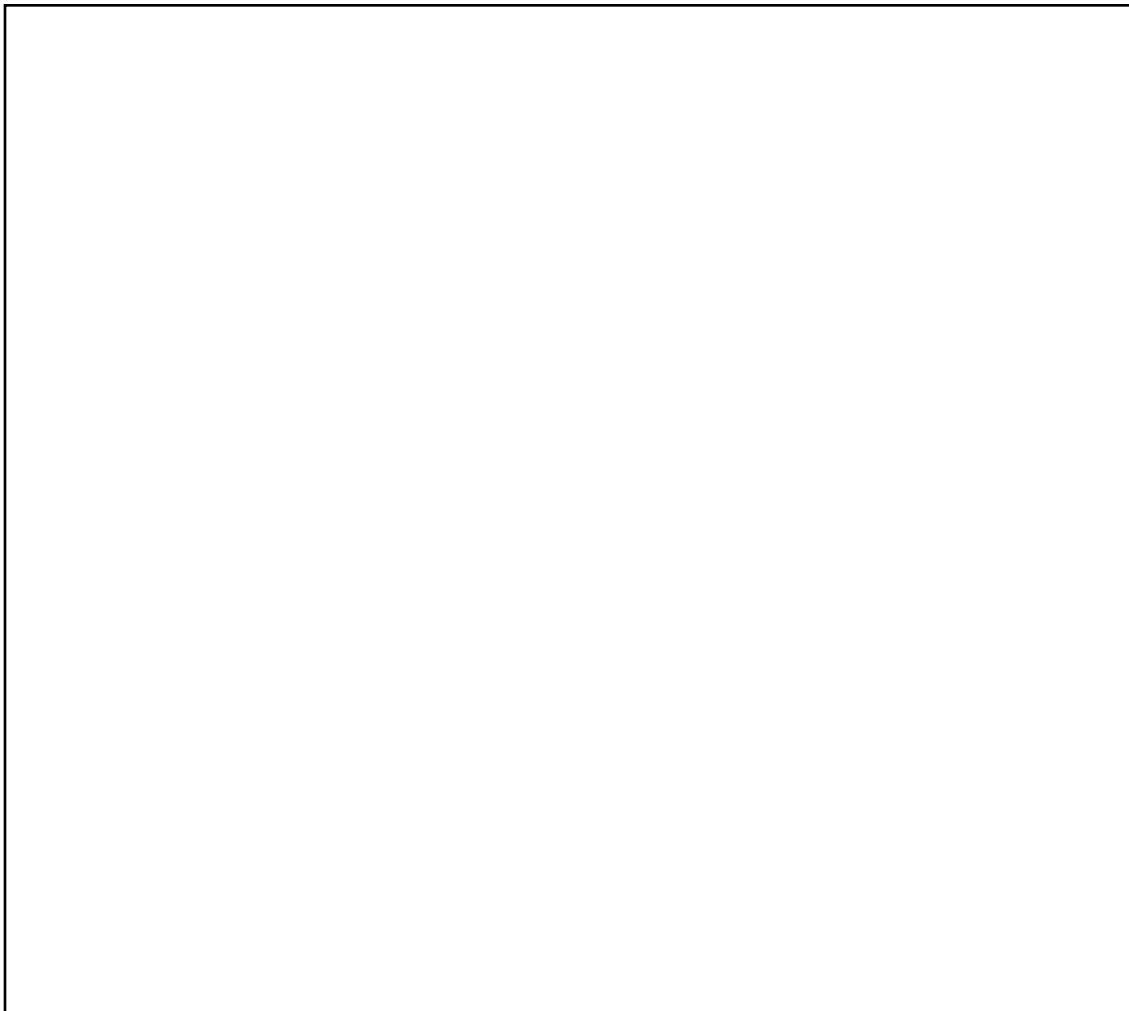

The dove flew to the sheep. "Coo, coo," it called. "See my pretty wings! Don't you wish you had wings? You could fly, fly, fly away." "Baa, baa," the sheep called. "I give wool to boys and girls. I don't want to fly away."

The dove flew to the horse. "Coo, coo," it called. "See my pretty wings! Don't you wish you had wings? You could fly, fly, fly away." "Neigh, neigh," the horse called. "I give rides to boys and girls. I don't want to fly away."

The dove flew to the hen. "Coo, coo," it called. "See my pretty wings! Don't you wish you had wings? You could fly, fly, fly away." "Cluck, cluck," the hen called. "I give eggs to boys and girls. I don't want to fly away."

"Coo, coo," the dove called. "Are you all happy?" "Yes, yes," mooed the cow. "Yes, yes," baa'd the sheep. "Yes, yes," neighed
the horse. "Yes, yes," clucked the hen.

"Coo, coo," called the dove. "I am happy, too." And she flew to her nest. The End.

READING & WRITING.

The Dove. Directions. Print out. Answer the questions. Refer to the story. p.1.

NAME _____

Questions:

1. How many animals are in the story? _____. List them below.

a. _____

b. _____

c. _____

d. _____

e. _____

READING & WRITING.

MotherGooseCaboose.com

The Dove. Questions cont'd. Directions. Print out. Answer the questions.

p.2.

NAME _____

What Makes Them Happy? \(Fill in the blanks.\)

Cow - _____

Sheep - _____

Horse - _____

READING & WRITING.

The Dove. Questions cont'd. Directions. Print out. Answer the questions.

NAME _____

Hen - _____

Dove - _____

What Makes You Happy? (Write in the spaces below.)

READING & WRITING.

MotherGooseCaboose.com

The Dove. Questions cont'd. Directions. Print out. Answer the questions.

p.4.

NAME _____

ANSWERS.

What Makes Them Happy?

Cow - gives milk to boys and girls.

Sheep - gives wool to boys and girls.

Horse - gives rides to boys and girls.

Hen - gives eggs to boys and girls.

Dove - has wings and can fly.